THE PARADISE OF LEATHER GOODS

ABOUT US

Step into the world of Eden, where craftsmanship meets conscious living. In the heart of Kenya, where creativity and sustainability intertwine, driven by a profound passion for the environment. At Eden, we believe in transforming challenges into opportunities, nurturing the world we live in while crafting exquisite leather products.

IMPACT

Every day, as we weave our brand story, we address a critical problem with ingenuity: the excess leather offcuts generated during our manufacturing process. Instead of discarding them as waste, we embrace the concept of upcycling, breathing new life into these remnants. We transform the leather scraps into remarkable works of art.

Our commitment to sustainability doesn't stop there. In our unwavering pursuit of minimizing our ecological footprint, we have taken a conscious step towards using recycled brass for our fittings such as buckles. By repurposing this durable material, we extend its lifespan and prevent the need for further extraction of resources. This way, we actively contribute to reducing waste and minimizing the demand for new raw materials, supporting a circular economy that fosters harmony between craftsmanship and nature.

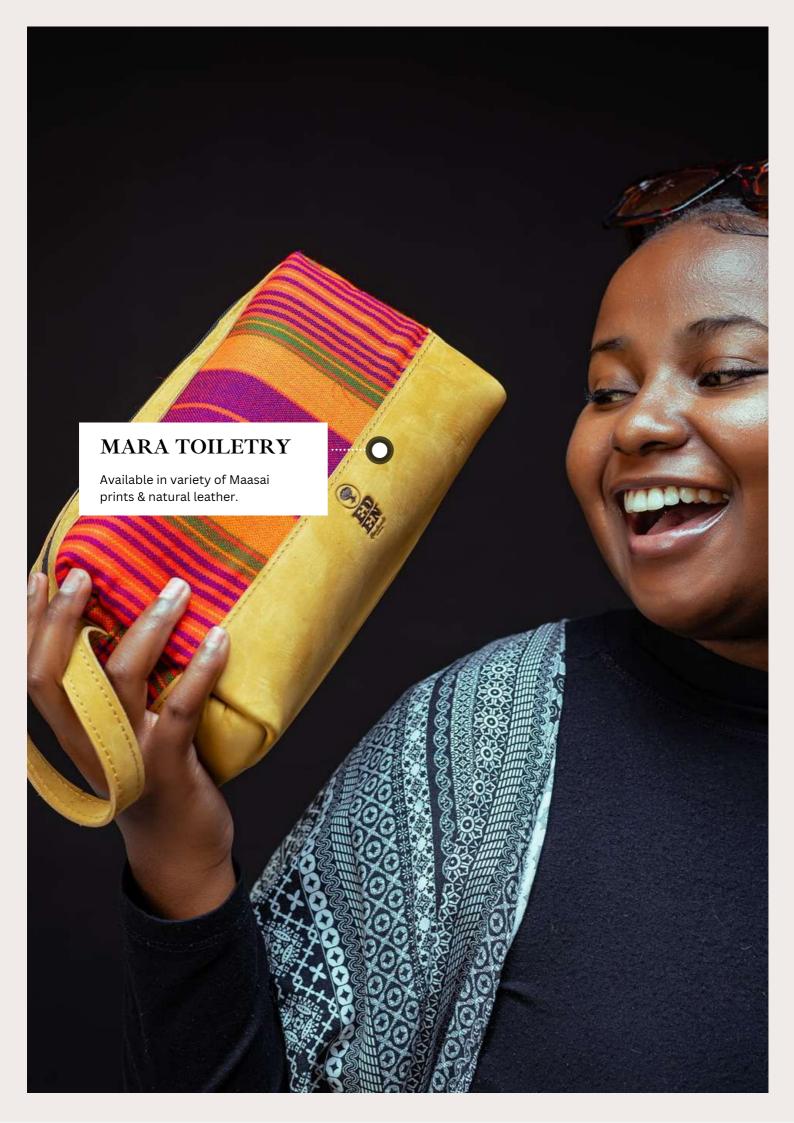

At Eden, we understand that our future is deeply interconnected with the environment. Recognizing the vital role that trees play in preserving our planet's delicate balance, we have embarked on an ambitious mission to give back. For every product you purchase, we pledge to plant a tree in collaboration with local communities. By investing in reforestation efforts, we strive to restore ecosystems, combat deforestation, and combat climate change.

Our journey extends far beyond materials, we recognize the importance of community involvement and the transfer of skills to empower local artisans. In the heart of the Maasai Mara, we collaborate with talented craftsmen and women, sharing our expertise in leatherwork. Through skill transfer initiatives, we strive to preserve the art of leather craftsmanship & beadwork, while empowering individuals to create a sustainable livelihood.
